Payer Relations and Practice Economics

Real, tangible value for your dues dollar

Medical practices, whether owned by physicians or a health system, are under tremendous financial pressure. The Pennsylvania Medical Society offers a number of services to help you receive appropriate reimbursement for the medical care you provide so you can focus on what's important—your relationship with your patients.

Hundreds of physicians and practice managers regularly take advantage of:

- Practice management and reimbursement advice from our staff of experienced, highly regarded practice economists. We'll respond to your questions on issues such as: billing and coding; HIPAA; Medicare and Medicaid; health public policy issues like physician supply and market place data; health information technology; and collaboration with insurance companies on initiatives like obesity, antibiotic resistance, and medical policy development.
- Vital Lines practice management and economics newsletter. Make sure you're subscribed to this free bimonthly newsletter by going to www.pamedsoc.org/infooptions. Look for answers to frequently asked questions in every edition.
- Publications and other resources. To get the full list of our practice management and reimbursement resources, go to www.pamedsoc.org/shop or call (800) 228-7823.
- Web-based resources such as HIPAA forms to download, the Pennsylvania Standard Credentialing Application, Medicare Part D resources, and much more, all available at www.pamedsoc.org.
- In-person events like regional practice manager meetings, medical staff meetings, county medical society meetings, and coding workshops.
- Deep discounts on Part B News and other endorsed publications.
- A Member discount on services from PMSCO practice management consultants.
- Assistance with filing complaints against third-party payers as well as identification of payer contacts.
